

Chil-kid, happy kid

> A formula that's no secret, fortified with nutrients and 'oishi'

A HAPPY child is a healthy child and vice-versa, hence the importance of good nutrition which can be found in Morinaga Chil-kid.

While the new Morinaga Chil-kid is "less sweet and more oishi", the improved formula offers "a mild vanilla taste and reduced sweetness", but it is still oishi which means tasty. These come in tins of 900g or re-fill packs of 700g.

Morinaga Chil-kid is filled with nutrients that support a child's optimum growth and development. It also help build his/her natural body resistance. The formula is suitable for growing children between the ages of one and seven.

Fortified with Vitamins D, B6, E and C, and containing essential nutrients such as GOS, AA, DHA omega-3, five balanced Nucleotides, folic acid, taurine, calcium, iron, zinc and selenium – the product from Netherlands is produced in a state-of-the-art plant using modern Japanese technology.

The formula goes through stringent double-safety processes and is halal-certified.

From Nov 30 until Dec 2, mummies and daddies in Penang are encouraged to visit "Today's Baby Expo" at the Spice Arena. Don't miss the opportunity to discover all about health-giving longboarders and how the sport has developed that competitions are held, there is lack of proper infrastructure to accommodate the activity. Naqib pointed out instances when the group were "kicked out" of skating spots and told to "travel" elsewhere to skate despite the location being unquestionably far.

Due to the stigma around skateboarding, longboarders are often stopped by the authorities during their activity. "Do you know that the police are a lot more open than DBKL? They see us and tell us to be careful," said Lim.

"The place with most issues is the Lake Gardens. It's a shame because we really like the area. There are so many disciplines that can be covered there. They say we 'kacau orang' but we see people smiling and wanting to take pictures. In a way, we're promoting tourism," Omar quipped, before Naqib recalled an incident and related the story.

"During a beginner session, a DBKL officer told us we were not allowed to skate there, so we moved to a dead-end street. This guy still gets pissed-off at us and goes on to say we can't do this and that. We resorted to telling him there were no proper rules and signage. And you know what he does? He goes back to his office, prints out a list of rules, and adds two more – 'No skateboarding' and 'mesti dengar cakap pegawai DBKL' ... even the font was different." (At the time this article was written, there was no response from DBKL when the matter was brought up.)

As activities such as longboarding flourish and develop and with its growing fan base, consideration from authorities would be more than welcome. Look out for beginner sessions by Cherry Bomb Board Co on Facebook.

Pick and mix – options galore

IT'S year-end, the season for celebrations, revelry and holidays. For those entertaining at home, best get your appliances and utensils out and start planning your party of all parties.

From guest-lists to decor, seating arrangements and activities – the menu has always been one that requires extra thought, not to mention time.

With that, KHIND has a range of "mixers" to offer local consumers – from low capacity-low power to high capacity-high power models that cater to various needs.

Among them is the newly-launched range, the KHIND Stand Mixer SM 500P, Stand Mixer SM 350P and Stand Mixer SM 280P, along with two basic models, the Stand Mixer SM 220 and Stand Mixer HM 200.

The top-of-the-range offers an elegant looking, red-coloured appliance – the KHIND Stand Mixer SM 500P.

It comes with a 5-litre big mixing bowl that allows up to 1.3kg of flour and 18 eggs to be mixed using any of the 1200W-powered five-speed settings.

The mixer comes with a detachable SUS304 stainless steel mixing bowl, an egg beater, and mixing and kneading hooks to serve most baking needs.

Designed for hassle-free use is the SM 500P, with multi-safety protection that includes a resettable thermal fuse for overheat protection, a transparent splash cover and non-slip rubber foot that prevents movement during operation.

Alternatively, the KHIND Stand Mixer SM 350P is perfect for small families. Fitted with similar safety protection features, plus accessories as the SM 500P, this mixer that runs on 600W via a unique DC motor and POM gear mechanism offers power at less noise.

Easy operation and cleaning are added plus points.

Even more compact than its larger sibling is the KHIND Stand Mixer SM 280 – a compact, mint coloured 2.8 litre stand mixer.

The left-right shaking detachable mixer head with a self-rotating mixing bowl and scraper plate makes mixing a whole lot easier.

On the basic end of the spectrum, the KHIND Stand Mixer SM 220 and KHIND Hand Mixer HM 200 is still powerful –160W with five variable speeds and automatic resettable thermal fuse.

Both models additionally include a pair of beaters and dough hooks.

The primary difference is that the SM 220 can be used as a hand mixer as well.

All models come with a 1-year warranty and can be purchased online at www.khindonline.com
